GOOD YEAR FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

Associations in North America Now Number
1,831.

HAVE 600,000 MEMBERS

Property Exceeds $81,000,000 in Value—Positions Were Secured for 54,000 Men.

Pictures showing the year's progress of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association in all parts of North America were given to The Washington Herald yesterday. They show a steady growth of the association's membership and influence.

There are now 1,831 associations, with almost 600,000 men and boys on their rolls, a gain of 21,700 over last year. Besides these, there are many college and county associations not reporting. No fewer than 81,000 men are serving on association committees, another gain of more than 4,000.

There are 36,000 railroad men belonging to associations, 20,000 college students and 30,000 men engaged in industrial occupations. The educational classes added nearly 6,000 students to their numbers last year and now have 21,000. There are 200,000 men in athletic training, and there are nearly 10,000 in a corps called volunteer leaders. Something like 30,000 men are in athletic clubs and teams and in summer camps.

The charge is sometimes made that the Young Men's Christian Association has given up religious work. The figures show that almost 17,000 men are serving on committees on such work, and enrolled in Bible classes are 154,200 men, a gain of 13,000 last year. The number of men who attend religious services held in association buildings runs into the millions.

There go to association buildings of all kinds every day an average of 365,000, or almost 30,000,000 men a year. Jobs were secured last year for 54,000 men.

Putting Up Fine Buildings.

The New York Central lines, aided by the Vanderbilts, are erecting on the Grand Central Terminal plaza in New York the finest railroad association building in the world. It will accommodate 500 men. That railroad men appreciate association work is shown by the fact that last year association rest rooms were used 2,500,000 times and almost 6,000,000 meals were served to railroad men. The army and navy departments, situated at important points, received from enlisted men for safe keeping 600,000.

The net association property gain last year was $5,207,000, and it makes a grand total of $81,000,000. Besides, there is said to be $6,542,000 pledged, but not yet paid in. The endowment funds now amount to $10,000,000, not including the large sum likely to come from the Buxtonfield estate for the Army and Navy branch.

The association work was the largest in the history of the organizations. It was $11-

92,000, a gain of $1,757,000 last year. This gain was made possible chiefly by gifts from members themselves. In extension work $1,000,000 was spent, and this does not include about $2,000,000 going from America into the principal foreign cities for extension work in them in the form of better buildings.

Army and Navy Secretaries.

Great pressure is brought to bear upon the Army and Navy Department to secure a larger number of secretaries on battlefields and at army posts. These are desired, of course, where the government does not provide regular chaplains. Secretary Daniels has joined in the wish that the department may find it possible to provide secretaries for all ships and posts where needed. The association explains that for such secretaries it finds no local financial support, and that to secure funds from general sources to meet all demands has not been possible.

The Butterfield residuary estate may reach $2,000,000, and will make possible a great enlargement of the work. This sum is to go through the hands of the Woman's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Finley J. Shepard is the head. The association now furnishes one secretary in the Atlantic squadron and one in the Pacific squadron. To supply secretaries for all battlefields would require twenty-five men at least. Still more would be required if needy posts in the West were supplied with secretaries.

E. H. DROOP RETURNS FROM TRIP ABROAD

President of Board of Trade Back at Work Today, Having Been Away Two Months.

E. H. Droop, president of the Board of Trade, today will resume the duties of his office, after an absence of more than two months, during which time he visited the principal countries of Europe. Mr. Droop sailed direct to Hanover, Germany, on June 18, from New York City, and returned via the same route on August 7.

Mr. Droop spent the greater part of his time abroad visiting relatives in Germany and hunting on his brother-in-law's game preserve, near Cologne. He was met at Hanover by his two daughters, the Misses Agnes and Mary, who, for the past two years, have been studying music at the conservatory there. Mr. Droop, accompanied by his family, then made an extended tour of Germany, visiting Berlin, Dresden, Nuremberg, and Cologne. "The thing that impressed me most on my trip," said Mr. Droop, "was the consideration given to travelers in Germany. In every town, no matter how large or how small, there is a well-directed bureau of information, where strangers can find out anything they wish to know about the country. Unlike the bureau of information in the railroad stations in this country, where a surly clerk snaps your head off when asking about the arrival or departure of trains, the German bureau are in charge of a well-informed man, who takes pains in explaining everything of interest to strangers."

"I was astounded at the commercial progress Germany has made since my last visit there. The most wonderful commercial systems in the world are being perfected by the Germans. My only regret is that I did not have time to study them. I had the best trip of my life. I feel twenty years younger, but am glad to get back home, and am ready to settle down to hard work."

COOK, ARRESTED AS DESERTER, TRIED TODAY

Court-Martial Will Hear Case of Man Employed at District National Guard Camp.

Walter C. Cameron, alias William Metcalf, who was arrested on complaint of his brother-in-law, Lawrence A. Quinn, at Camp Ordway, W. Va., August 12, will be tried for desertion probably today by a general court-martial at Washington Barracks.

The penalty for desertion is eighteen months, but the sentence usually is determined by trial boards by the character of the defendant. In case of conviction, Cameron would serve his sentence either at Washington Barracks, Fort Monroe, Va., or Governors Island, N. Y.

It is charged that Cameron, who said he was thirty-four years old and a salesman, and gave his address as 242 M Street Northwest, deserted from the artillery service at Fort Hunt, Va., last April, two months before the expiration of his enlistment.

Just before the commencement of the National Guard Cameron showed an honorable discharge from the artillery service and enlisted as a cook. His brother-in-law, Mr. Quinn, who is a member of Company D, First Regiment, National Guard, saw him at the camp and complained to officers. Lieut. Frederick S. Strong, Jr., was sent from Washington Barracks with a sergeant to arrest Cameron.

Cameron has a wife and child, whom he deserted some time ago. They now are living with relatives near Fort Myer, Va.

The trial board which will hear the case is composed of Capt. Earl Wilbur Smith, Lieut. Earl North, Lieut. Rowan C. Crawford, and Lieut. Strong, and others.

An Egyptian Bird Cemetery.

From the London Morning Times.

A large audience assembled recently in the rooms of the Royal Society to hear an account by Mr. L. Loat, of the cemetery of sacred birds and other creatures discovered at Abydos. Mr. Loat was investigating the Osirian for the Egypt Exploration Fund, when, under a roadway, long in use, a number of large jars were found, each containing not only mummies of the fowl, the bird of Thoth, but bundles containing snakes, shrews, and eggs, including some of hawks. There were also many hawk mummies, among them one of the peregrine falcon. The mummies were wrapped in linen worked with patterns of black and brown in great variety. When first found they were in an extremely friable state, but Mr. Loat obtained from Cairo an atomizer and a quantity of varnish, which he forced into the material, and they are now in a perfect state, despite their long journey. The only serious damage was due to the British customs officials, who tore the most valuable specimens to pieces in their search for dutiable goods. In bricked inclosures about the vases, of which there were ninety-three, each containing large numbers of mummies, the remains of an ox, several horned sheep, and dogs were found. After the lecture the audience visited the rooms of the Society of Antiquaries, where Mr. Loat showed and described the varied and highly interesting articles he had brought home.

A by-product of the manufacture of thorium gas mantles, according to a German scientist who has experimented with it, is an effective substitute for radium at one-third the cost.

AMOUNT OF FOODSTUFFS EXPORTED INCREASING

Total for July, 1913, Is Forty-Three and Three-Quarters Millions.

July exports of breadstuffs, meats, cotton, and mineral oils show a large increase over those of the corresponding month of last year. The monthly bulletin of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, showing exports from the principal customs districts of breadstuffs, cottonseed oil, food animals, meat and dairy products, cotton, and mineral oils shows a total of $6,720,000 for July, 1913, against $2,900,000 in July, 1912.

The chief increase occurs in wheat, of which the exports from the principal customs districts during July, 1913, were 2,267,140 bushels, against 22,332 bushels in July of last year, the value being $9,093,182, against $27,325 in July of last year. Three exports of wheat in July were larger than in July of any earlier year since 1901.

Flour also shows a considerable increase, being $3,611,506 for July, 1913, against $2,696,027 for July, 1912. Meat and dairy products show an increase of about $2,200,000 over July of last year; cotton, an increase of $1,523,333; mineral oils, an increase of nearly $1,000,000, while cottonseed oil and cattle and food animals show a slight decline.

KENTUCKIAN SELECTED TO PICK ARMY HORSES

James L. Gay to Fill Vacancy in Committee Appointed to Choose Troopers' Mounts.

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced the selection of James L. Gay, of Kentucky, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles L. Bailey, on the department's committee of experts appointed to assist in the selection of stallions to be used in the army remount breeding work.

Mr. Gay is appointed as the saddle horse representative on this committee. He has had a life-long experience in the breeding of American saddle horses, is a judge of wide reputation, and is a director of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association.

Our Gas Inspectors

Demonstrated and installed 3,000 "IWANTU" Comfort Gas Irons in one month.

Six thousand housewives in Washington are no longer ironing in kitchens which are heated to torture-chamber temperature.

You can iron while seated, because the iron remains hot all the time it is in use.

Self-heated by means of a few specks of flame inside the iron.

Its nickel-plated and polished ironing surface makes ironing easy.

You may pay the price of the iron—$3.50—in monthly payments with gas bills.

The gas cost to operate it is only One Cent for three hours' rapid ironing.

Our experts, after careful testing, have proved these irons to be of perfect construction. We, therefore, guarantee them absolutely.

Watch for Our Inspector, who is demonstrating in your neighborhood, or write your name and address on the attached coupon and mail to the Washington Gas Light Co., 425 10th St. N. W., or telephone Main 8284.
